SOCIAL EVENT SCHEDULED FOR TONIGHT

Senior Class Participates in College Pilgrimage

FORMAL TEA GIVEN FOR GRADUATES BY FACULTY IN ACTIVITIES ROOM

This week the Seniors are participating in many old traditions that have grown around the college, in the enactment of all the rites and ceremonies that former Senior classes have left to be fulfilled by each graduating class. December '30 members have gone a step farther by adding the college library to their Pilgrimage list. During Senior week, each day is full of activities: social functions, dinners, teas, luncheons, and last of all, commencement.

Reception Given Monday

A reception for the Seniors, given by Dr. Alexander Roberts and the faculty, was a Formal Tea in the College Activities Room, Monday afternoon, December 15.

Inspiring decorations, carrying out the Christmas and graduation ideas, were used on the tables and throughout the room. Miss Evelyn Mayer was chairman of the committee in charge of decorations. Dr. and Mrs. Roberts, Dean and Mrs. Du Four, and Dean Ward received the Seniors as their guests at the tea.

The social committee consisted of Mrs. Bertha Monroe, Miss Mayer, Mr. Knuth, Miss McCall, Dr. Barney, Miss England, and Mrs. Witt-Diamont.

Tuesday morning, December 16, the Seniors attended the dedication of the Frederic Burk School.

In the evening they were guests of the Alumni at a tea given in the Whitcomb Hotel. It was an elaborate affair, with many distinguished educators as guests of honor.

Seniors at Candle Light Dinner

Tonight, at the Candle Light Dinner, there is to be "Senior Table," reserved for both graduating and Low Seniors. The table decorations will be novel; besides the flowers and traditional candles, miniature figures, shaking hands and representing low and high Seniors, will stand at either end of the table.

Pilgrimage on Thursday

Thursday morning, December 18, is the time set for the Senior Pilgrimage, a farewell trip to the college buildings and various points on the campus, where the girls have spent both troubled and happy hours. Seniors and faculty members make the trip, visiting every building, where a faculty member and a Senior give short talks. At Anderson Hall, Miss McFadden and Alice Parr are to be the speakers; Miss Barbour and Dell Mylius at the Kindergarten Building; Mr. Brown and Mary O'Farrell at Frederic Burk; Miss Fleming and Ann McHugh at the Library; and Dr. Roberts and Rose Marracini at the Administration Building.

Commencement on Friday Night

At the end of the week's activities—after four years of college life—the climax will be reached Friday night in the Commencement exercises at Everett Junior High School, when Dr. Roberts will present degrees to forty-three graduates.

Here is the program:

Processional March, by the College Orchestra; the Invocation, by Rabbi Reichert; the College Hymn, sung by the Graduating Class; the Presentation of Graduates by Dean Du Four; the Commencement Address, by Dr. Alexander Roberts; Response, by Chloe Palmer and Marie Torpey; "Wanderer's Evening Song," by the Graduating Class; Presentation of Diplomas by Dr. Roberts; Benediction, by Rabbi Reichert; Recessional, by the College Orchestra.

COLLEGE IS ALLOTTED LARGE SUM TO COVER BUILDING EXPENSES

In support of the proposed ten-year San Francisco building program, a sum of $1,000,000 has been allotted to S. T. C. to cover building expenses during the next four years. This tremendous amount was promised to S. T. C. three years ago, and after a meeting held at Sacramento, Tuesday, December 9, at which Dr. Alexander C. Roberts represented the California teachers' college presidents, it was reconfirmed.

The fund is divided into two portions,—one to be used during the two-year period starting in July, 1931, and the other to be used during the two-year period starting in July, 1933. While it is not certain how much will be received by this college next July, Dr. Roberts states that it will be either of two sums: $134,000 or $163,000.

According to Dr. Roberts, the million dollar allotment will take care of the many building needs of the college for a number of years.

Below are listed some of the things in which the college is considered deficient at present: administration offices, auditorium, library, academic classrooms, science buildings, men's gymnasium, women's gymnasium, cafeteria, store, social room, other activities: art, music, manual arts, commercial, domestic science, and [illegible] items. While S. T. C. is lacking in these things, they have been found to be inadequate.

S. T. C. HOLDS WINTER SESSION IN SPRING TERM FOR STUDENTS

A winter session of six weeks, from January 5 to February 13, 1931, will be held by the San Francisco State Teachers' College this year, in order to accommodate the teachers whose schools continue in session during the summer months. Students may earn six units of credit upon completing the courses of study.

Both professional and academic courses will be offered. There will also be courses in industrial arts, health education, and nature study. The fee for the Winter Session is $8.50. This amount includes fees for the State, student body, library, general college activities, class dues, college paper, and annual. Winter session students will be admitted to all the various activities of the regular college students as well as to activities planned expressly for the special session.

The winter season in San Francisco is rich in good plays, concerts, lectures, and the like. The students will also have opportunities to visit various points of interest in and about the bay region. Visits will be made to industrial plants, a newspaper plant, fisherman's wharf, steamships, Chinatown, the Legion of Honor, and will be planned. It is the aim of those planning the winter session to make the six weeks' stay in San Francisco as rich in variety of experiences as possible, without distracting from the professional and academic program of the students.

FALL TERM CANDLE LIGHT DINNER HELD IN THE WOMEN'S GYMNASIUM

At last the long awaited social event of the fall term, the annual Candle Light Dinner, is to be held in the gymnasium from five-thirty to eight o'clock today. To the seniors it will mean the parting with friends, and to the alumni, a renewance of old acquaintances, while to those who are to attend S. T. C. again next term, it means a happy way of bringing a most successful fall semester to a close.

Many people who are at the present time engaged in educational work throughout the state will be honor guests at the affair. Mary Cooney, president of the alumni association, will be one of the guests of honor, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Barbieri. Mrs. Florence Barbieri is the president of the P. T. A. at this college. Mr. and Mrs. Pratt will be guests of honor also. Mrs. Pratt is the president of the second district P. T. A. Mr. Joseph Gwinn, superintendent of schools in San Francisco County, and Mrs. Gwinn; Miss Estelle Carpenter, supervisor of music in San Francisco; Mr. McGlade, deputy superintendent in charge of secondary education in California; Mr. White, principal of Commerce High School; Mr. Drew, principal of Mission High School, and Mrs. Drew; Mr. Vierling Kersey, superintendent of public instruction in California, and Dr. and Mrs. Alexander Roberts will all be numbered among the guests of honor.

Mr. Vierling Kersey, at the conclusion of the dinner, will give a toast for the future success of our college, a toast to which Dr. Alexander Roberts will reply.

One of the most varied programs ever to be presented in the college will be given at this occasion. Skits, dances, stunts, costume reviews, and vocal selections will be given for the approval of the guests. The program is to be given by members of the various clubs at S. T. C. The Glee Club, Scribes' Club, Delta Phi Upsilon, the Dames' Club, the Dance Club and members of the Men's Quartet have been earnestly preparing in order that their parts in the delightful entertainment will be perfect. The interest in preparing for this program is spontaneous, and it is going to be novel and varied.

The Christmas spirit will be carried out as much as possible in the decorations. There will be one thousand candles, one at each place.

The board of directors, Phi Lambda Chi Alumni, and seniors will have separate tables.

Edna Denhard, successful chairman of many social events of this semester, is the chairman of the entire affair. She is working with the heads of the various committees; Alice Zander, candle light service; Maurice Boyd, collecting tickets; Alice Rich, decorations; Ruth Brazel, hostesses; Frances Kunz, invitations; Thelma Silvia, speakers' table; Audrey Moore and Rose Maracini, senior table; and Lillian Tyrrell, publicity, who are, in conjunction with their committees, diligently working to assure the success of this affair.

Reservations may be made in the student body bookstore or through Edna Denhard.

Press Club Climaxes Semester's Activities With Hotel Banquet

An impressive climax of the fall semester's activities of the Press Club and the entire publications staff came on Tuesday evening, November 9, 1930, when these groups held a large dinner in the banquet room of the Hotel Bellevue.

The spirit of enthusiasm and cooperation that has brought many accomplishments to the writers of the State Teachers' College, was well portrayed as some eighty-five sat around a "horse shoe shaped" table. The banquet room was decorated to lend a true Christmas spirit, and the tables contained many novelties that furthered this spirit.

Betty Fiske, editor of The Bay Leaf, in the opening address, welcomed the many interested "journalists" and expressed her thanks for the co-operation that she received from them. Miss Fiske announced the guests of the affair, after which she introduced Ruth Lescinski, chairman of the evening.

The principal speaker of the evening was John D. Barry, noted publisher and feature writer of the San Francisco News. His interesting talk dwelled on the facts concerning the advantages, disadvantages and opportunities of following journalism as a career. He told of the incidents that has made his twenty years of newspaper and journal work thrilling; the experiences that have made him eager to start the next day's work. "I have a job and I like it. Each day has so much news that the write-ups are not the bore that people think they might be after all of these years," declared Mr. Barry.

Miss Cecelia Anderson, sponsor of The Bay Leaf Board of Control, gave a brief report of the accomplishments of the paper, due to efforts of the enthusiastic class of writers.

Sarah Mason, the chairman of the Board of Control of The Bay Leaf, made the announcement of the new staff that has been selected for next semester. The staff is as follows: Mildred Scott, editor-in-chief; Ruth Lescinski, news editor; Betty Gilchrist, make-up editor; Viola Giesen, feature editor; Marshall Douglas, sports editor with Sidney Trager as his associate. The six associate editors are: Ruth Raymond, Margery Thornton, Ruth Sturgeon, Ernestine Fox, Marilaton Stewart, and Rosalyn Hyde. The business staff will again be resumed under the leadership of Webster Allen, Financial Manager.

A friendly talk was given by Mrs. T. H. Ellsworth, faculty advisor. She told of the remarkable progress that had accrued to The Bay Leaf. Her attention also turned to the newly organized Press Club and their affiliations with Alpha Phi Gamma, the National Journalistic Society.

Webster Allen, president, on behalf of the Press Club, presented Mrs. Ellsworth with a bouquet of roses as a token of appreciation for the support she has rendered this new organization.

The Franciscan was well represented. Miss Grace Carter, chairman of the Franciscan board, spoke of her enjoyment that she has had in her association with the college year book. Ciwa Griffiths, editor of the Franciscan, spoke of her desire to have everybody help her issue a big Franciscan.

The program turned from the [illegible] to the informal. Miss Ruth [illegible] gave a piano solo. Hazel Dell Watson, with Doris Weinstrom at the piano, sang two popular songs, "Swinging in a Hammock," and "It Must Be True."

A novel clog dance was given by Mildred Smith and Leah Boehm, portraying images of an enlarged size of the Franciscan and The Bay Leaf.

To complete the occasion, a jolly Santa Claus gave each person a little surprise gift. This affair of the joint publications group is to be a semi-annual occasion from now on.

Fifth of Students Now Holiday Workers

"One-fifth of the entire student body are working during the holidays in various department stores, and in the post office," declared Miss Vance, regarding student applications for work.

Even with this large number of men and women employed, there is still a scarcity of work, and many former workers are not filing applications this term.

President and Mrs. Arthur Gist of Arcata are visiting in the bay cities this week as the guests of Dr. A. C. Roberts and other local friends.

President Gist was principal of the Frederic Burk School previous to his appointment as president of the Humboldt State Teachers' College.

Petey the Pedagogue Says:

Greetings, folks, from Petey—with lots of Christmas cheer! If your final grades are pleasing, you've spent a worthy year!!!

MANY FACTORS CAUSE BUSINESS DEPRESSION ALSO UNEMPLOYMENT

Of even more vital interest to the people of the United States than the present political and economic situation in Russia and Palestine, is their own economic trouble, namely, unemployment and general business depression.

Trouble World-Wide

Dr. Rypins says, "The trouble is not with the United States primarily, but with the economic situation the world over. The kind of depression the world is passing through at the present time is only an example of a recurrent economic condition which has followed wherever machinery has supplanted handicraftsmanship.

"It is one of the most perplexing economic paradoxes that whenever, as at the present time, the world produces an exceptionally large quantity of, for instance, wheat, more people than ever go hungry. This is so much the case that during the drought of last summer, numerous writers pronounced it a blessing. The same may be illustrated by cotton; the more cotton produced in the Southern states, the more people there are who are poverty-stricken.

Too Little Consumed

Dr. Rypins also stated that not too much wheat or cotton, or any other fundamental product, is produced, but that too little of these commodities is consumed. Not over-production but under-consumption is the trouble.

"In the course of time, perhaps in one or two years, we shall find ourselves slowly emerging from this depression. Remedies of various kinds have been proposed, but for the present depression such proposals come too late. The time to forestall, or at least to minimize, the next economic depression is not when it comes with full force upon us, but right now," said Dr. Rypins.

New Staff Is Chosen For College Paper

Of the three students who tried out for editorship this term, Mildred Scott was successful. The members of the entire staff of The Bay Leaf for the coming semester were announced at the Press Club dinner, Tuesday evening, December [illegible]. The editor will be Mildred Scott, who has had a wide and varied experience in newspaper work. Ruth Lescinski is to be the news editor; Betty Gilchrist, make-up editor; Viola Giesen, feature editor; and Marshall Douglas, sports editor. The associate editors to the [illegible] present journalism class are [illegible] Rosalyn Hyde, Ruth Raymond, Margery Thornton, Ruth Sturgeon, and Ernestine Fox. Marilaton Allen is [illegible] because of the good work he [illegible]. They will assume duties [illegible] this semester by members of the present staff, Elizabeth Fiske, editor-in-chief; Mildred Scott, news editor; Louise Miclo, make-up editor.

The Bay Leaf will again have as its faculty advisor, Mrs. Blanche Ellsworth, who has been a great inspiration to those on the staff this term.

ADVANCED JOURNALISM CLASS WILL ENLARGE

The advanced journalism class, English 155, will be greatly enlarged next semester. The enlarged advance class will meet the needs of the growing college paper, The Bay Leaf.

Heretofore, English 155 was open to the associate editors only. Now, the class is to be open to all students who have completed English 15, or its equivalent.

Mrs. Ellsworth, faculty advisor of The Bay Leaf, will give the course. The class will meet twice a week, and students are to do work especially suited to their interests. Some students will write feature stories, others will do rewrite work, and still others will write sport material.

In other words, the advanced journalism class will be a newspaper work shop where each member is doing the work for which he is best suited.

Notice!

The Book Store requests that all students who have lost articles this semester to call for them immediately. On Friday, all articles will be returned to finders.

Dr. Arnesen Elected

Dr. E. Arnesen was elected chairman of the newly formed publication committee for the forthcoming large catalog. Mr. C. Mundt was elected secretary.

The seniors extend an invitation to all students and their friends to attend the Commencement, Friday evening, December 19, at Everett Junior High School Auditorium, 16th and Church streets, San Francisco.

Thankful at Christmas Time

A splendid feeling of unity has permeated the entire school this term. There is a saying that contends that struggling people cling together, and through five months experiencing that, we have found it to be true. This period of transitory growth in which we are in the very midst is weaving a glorious spirit of good fellowship in the pattern that we are making for S. T. C. to follow many years from now. Let's all be thankful that we are part of the pattern's creation.

The outgoing seniors have woven their share in the design; we who are left must cherish and uphold the feeling that they have stimulated. Those things, so real though intangible, may then be the cause for an equally sincere thankfulness at Christmas time next year.

Instructors, Attention!

It would be interesting to assemble all the various marking systems of the individual teachers in this college, compare notes, and even go so far as to pick and choose a standard system.

How is it known that there is at the present time no uniform one?

Primarily, the differences are everywhere obvious. Even a blind person would sense that there are a number of instructors ridiculously "easy," and a few impossibly "hard." If we but dared to classify each one of you! The "hard," "easy," and "so-so" ones all found your reputations on your individual marking systems.

There is another example of your differences that, although more subtle, is no less potent. A conversation was recently overheard in which one student had a glorious time telling the big joke of how she, her sisters and brothers, and many friends had each used a particularly excellent essay that was originally written by her oldest sister. The joke lay in the fact that the same though oft-copied paper had rated grades in this college anywhere from an A plus down to one D. That joke is a mighty interesting one, forming a concreteness to our present basis of opinion and inquisition.

Stanford, as a standard bearer for high scholastic attainment, follows a consistent marking plan. Their acknowledged success would benefit us as an active example—if we would give it the opportunity.

Your instructors want to help us, we know; therefore, won't you discuss and act upon this matter? The Bay Leaf, as a vital service organ in this college, would like to work with you and hear from you about the future marks. May we?

Farewell, Seniors!

Dear Seniors:

We, the freshman class of San Francisco State Teachers' College, wish to bid you farewell. And it is our sincere hope that you will meet only with the best of luck as you go out into the world as graduates of this college.

It will be but a few short hours before you will say goodbye to your alma mater. You are about to leave your instructors and your classmates. You are about to seek new paths. Some of you will leave this locality; some of you will be back to us for extension and summer school courses. But, wherever you may choose to go, we, who have three years before us as yet, will always be ready to welcome you back to our midst. We shall look forward to your visits.

"May joy and gladness be combined
With all kind wishes true;
And bring a wealth of happiness
Upon this day to you.
May you master many battles
As you journey on life's way,
And may all success attend you
On your Graduation Day!"

Congratulations! You are the first class to carry 100 per cent A. B. degrees away from this college with you.

So, with all the luck in the world, we are,

Yours most sincerely,
The Freshman Class.

The height of laziness has been discovered in S. T. C.—a girl too lazy to sleep in class because it's too much trouble to wake up!

Old Christmas Returned

All you to feasting and mirth are inclined,
Come, here is good news for to pleasure your mind:
Old Christmas is come for to keep open house;
He scorns to be guilty of starving a mouse.
Then come, boys, and welcome for diet the chief,
Plum pudding, goose, capon, minced pies, and roast beef.
The holly and ivy about the wall wind
And show that we ought to our neighbors be kind,
Inviting each other for pastime and sport,
And where we best fare, there we most do resort;
We fail not of victuals, and that of the chief,
Plum pudding, goose, capon, minced pies, and roast beef.
All travelers, as they do pass on their way,
At gentlemen's halls are invited to stay,
Themselves to refresh, and their horses to rest,
Since that he must be Old Christmas' guest;
Nay, the poor shall not want, but have for relief,
Plum pudding, goose, capon, minced pies, and roast beef.

Master of Ceremonies—I love you, darling, in my own inimitable way!

SIDELIGHTS ON THE PUBLICATIONS DINNER

Sid Trager was caught in the act of slipping some silverware in his pocket at the publications dinner. When questioned, he said that he was starting a hope chest.

After eating a mouthful of cranberry sauce, a look of anguish crossed Marilaton Stewart's face. What she had mistaken for a plump cranberry was really a hollyberry, which due to Mr. Frank Ray's expert markmanship, had landed on her plate.

Among other casualities was a crushed cake of rouge and a flattened geranium lipstick in Doris Wienstrom's purse. After Doris' musical number, she was presented with a cluster of holly. In her confusion she sat plump down on the unoffending purse.

Ruth Sturgeon has decided to refrain from teasing Sid Trager. Ruth liked the French rolls so well, that Sid gallantly asked the waitress to bring an extra roll and butter with Ruth's dessert. This the obliging waitress did and no more will Sid be called a "casabo tosser."

Ruth Lescinski found it necessary to hold up the program while Santa retied his falling whiskers. Poor Santa became so excited while passing out the gifts, that he began tossing them to the recipients. For a while the air was thick with flying missiles, such as whistles, horns, balloons, marbles, airplanes, etc.

Petey, the Pedagogue's identity was at last revealed. As he was being passed down the table for closer inspection, Hazel Adamson fell in love with him and that was the last that was seen of Petey.

WISE QUACKS

Perhaps it does pay to be a teacher. Mr. C. Mundt states that, due to the business depression, he will only pay $200 apiece for each Christmas present instead of $500, as he has previously been accustomed to.

City Contractor—Send a crew out immediately! Here's a street I just found what ain't torn up!

Allan Wyatt—Do you think it was wise to take all those dancing lessons?

George Belieu—No, nobody wants to sit one out with me any more.

Leah Boehm (having just received a new mink coat as a graduation present from her father)—What I don't see is how a wonderful fur can come from such a low, sneaking beast.

Father—I don't ask for thanks, dear, I only ask for respect.

One of the results of the Press Club dinner might have been seen Tuesday night about two hours after the dinner when Betty Gilchrist and others played hopscotch at 450 Sutter street, on the sidewalk in front of the new Dental-Medical building.

Timid Freshman girl compelled to visit Dean's office, approached and inquired in a small voice: "Is the bean dizzy?"

Heard in Mrs. Dorris' 2 o'clock geography class:

Mrs. Dorris—And Mohammedans believe there were no women in paradise.

Masculine Voice—What is paradise without women?

"I got so annoyed at guides in Europe last summer that I finally decided to shoot one and have him stuffed for my trophy room."

As there is no W in the Jugo-Slavian language, dogs in that country are taught to say "Voof-voof."

Ruth Sturgeon—What do you think of a boy who'd make a girl blush?

Ches Magrath—I think he's a wonder!

TERTIUM QUID

Today, I cannot find within my heart the desire to deliver a "weekly bawling-out." Please don't die of surprise. Stranger things have happened.

Since it is my last chance to chat with you in 1930, I will do my best to be pleasant and agreeable as I make a general survey of what I tried to do this term.

So, read on, O reader! And may the Season's Greetings be with you!

Well, folks, the first part of this semester found Tertium starting off on his rip-roaring career rather timidly—gently, as it were. He touched upon such subjects as the activities room, the "uniform" bulletin board, cuts, and College Walk.

In such a way did Tertium lay the foundation for this column.

But——

Bang!!! All of a sudden, the fireworks went off!

It all happened when the now famous article on men made its grand debut. Oh! Never shall Tertium forget the great upheaval it caused. But it did him good; and I dare to think that it did no harm to any of you.

Thus, in this "manly" way, did I start the ball rolling. Just to get your interest—that's all.

Having reached my stride, I next pleaded with you to enlarge The Bay Leaf. And presto! Along came a six-column paper, increased four inches in length.

Feeling very elated, I "offered you congratulations." But, if you noticed, those pats on the back came out in a "fluke" edition; so they mean to.

Then the faculty was alloted its share of "beauty" mud. I called those daring "digs" a general jerking-up. Secretly, I expected to be jerked out into the street any minute. But—I lived.

Becoming more confident, I attacked certain members of the feminine sex. And—well, you know how women are! They haven't recovered yet!

College spirit I discussed next, urging plenty of co-operation and understanding. You seemed to take the hint.

The following Wednesday, I pointed out the faculty's non-attendance at student affairs. Now, I have a hunch that instructors will come to our future "pep rallies" and like them!

Last week, I expressed the need for a platform at the Candle Light Dinner. Tonight, when we look for it, let's hope we won't have to look, and look, and LOOK.

So now, if you really have read between the lines, you will have realized that Tertium's aims are not destructive. They are constructive. And in trying to build S. T. C. into a regular college, Tertium uses no "soft soap."

In other words, Tertium believes that the quickest way to reach perfection is to point out conspicuous imperfections, and to eradicate them. Wipe out the flaws—and establish our collegiate Utopia.

But remember, it takes time to recondition and retradition the old college. So, patience, my friends—and good luck!

TERTIUM.

P. S.—Merry Christmas, folks, and a Happy New Year—'till Tertium gets working on you again!!!

Are "Finals" Final?

Dear T. N. T.:

Why a final examination schedule?
Are they made for looks or use?

The student finds his final examination scheduled at a certain day and hour and then is told that the "ex" will fall from two to three days earlier or will be split into two parts. Explanations run all the way from the fact that the prof. is leaving early to the information that someone in the class has an early Christmas job. Sounds like an overgrown high school.

"Genius"—Get Going!

Dear T. N. T.:

What is wrong with everyone? Not one obvious thing has been done to develop college songs for S. T. C. Two stimulating articles have been written in The Bay Leaf this term, and—where are the results? Don't think that this is a slam at those editorials, because they were all they should be and more. But the people who read them certainly are not what they should be. Some spectacle we must present at college affairs where other universities are present when we can do a lot of yelling for our school, but no singing. I advise more frequent reading of The Bay Leaf editorials—you might learn something and do more.

ONE WHO READS THEM.

Notice

The Registrar's office announces that the office will be closed December 24, 25, and January 1. Office hours during Christmas vacation, with the exception of these three days, will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. It is suggested by Miss Crumption that students pass along this information to incoming Freshmen who they know to be entering in December.

They Still Burn Up

Dear T. N. T.:

What a fine example a group of smoking women planning to be teachers would make for the training of school children! Has such a person as "a would-be smoker" no common sense about her, or is she absolutely devoid of brains?

Why not erect a smoking room for those who wish to take a puff between classes?

Think of those younger than yourself! "BROWNIE."

Let's Rest, But How?

Dear T. N. T.:

Now how is it that our college has no real center of recreation? I don't mean a playground but a comfortable place to sit down and rest. The only place one can sit down for a moment outside of classes is on a bench on the wall. And with a cold wind howling around you, I can assure you you'll not sit for long.

YOURS FOR A COMFORTABLE PLACE TO MEET YOUR FRIENDS.

"I Want More Rallies!"

T. N. T.:

Where are all the school assemblies and rallies? The basketball team plays numerous games but are never cheered, when in each noon hour before a game a peppy rally could be had. Assemblies are educational as well as entertaining and should be had at least every two weeks.

Yours,
"MORE RALLIES."

Miss Richardson recently sent Allen Wyatt to Miss Katherine Hussey with some mimeographed work, and phoning the office some twenty minutes later found he had not yet arrived. Upon further information she learned that Allen had used his car for the journey.

COLLEGE HYMN WRITTEN BY MISS KEEL-SMITH AND P. F. VALENTINE

Now that everybody is humming the College Hymn, it is interesting to note that the music for it was written by Miss Hilda Keel-Smith of the art department, and the words by Dr. P. F. Valentine of the education department.

The music classes have practiced the song regularly, and Dr. Rypin's Social Science I class has practiced several times under the direction of Miss Eva Levy.

Following is a copy of the College Hymn.

Hail San Francisco

With echo of old romance;
Upon the sod that the padres trod,
We have found our inheritance.

Faith of valiant builders,
Dream of pioneers;
Hearts afire with a high desire,
For the pride of the future years.

Our college proudly holds thee,
Oh, spirit brave and free;
And in the thought of the deeds thou has wrought,
We pledge our loyalty.

Faith of valiant builders,
Dream of pioneers;
Hearts afire with a high desire,
For the pride of the future years.

Hail San Francisco; Alma Mater hail!
Thy heritage so nobly borne,
Forever shall prevail!
And from the rugged hilltops
Unto the distant shore
Thy praise shall ring
And go echoing,
All hail—All hail—All hail!

FRANCISCAN FRIERS

Claire Grimes—Can you dance on one foot?

Al Stockton—Of course.

Claire—Then keep off my other one.

Jess—Going to the dance tonight?

Irma Gerske—No, I got a gangster date for tonight with Jimmy.

Jess—Gangster?

I. G.—Yeah; he's going to take me for a ride.

Mary Mortigia was telling her class about parrot fever, and warned the pupils never to kiss animals or birds.

"Can any pupil give me an instance of this danger?" she asked.

"Yes, I can, Miss Mortigia," said little Jackie. "My Aunt Emily used to kiss her lap dog."

"Yes, and——?"

"It died."

The Senior Class had been put on a budget plan. At the end of each month Kay O'Farrell, secretary-treasurer, and Rose Marraccini, president, would go over the accounts together. Every once in a while Rose found "L. O. K. $3" or "L. O. K. $6."

Finally she said, "What does 'L. O. K.' stand for?"

"Lord only knows," replied Kay.

Dad—Your Boy Friend talks too much. He rattles along like a Ford.

Vivian Walsh—I know, Dad, but his clutch is so different.

PROTESTANT STUDENTS ORGANIZED PHI LAMBDA CHI ELEVEN YEARS AGO

Although Phi Lambda Chi is just eleven years, two months, and two days old today, it is now one of the best known clubs at S. T. C.

On October 8, 1919, a group of girls met to organize the sorority, because they felt there was a definite need for a club for Protestant girls on the campus.

Beulah Moore, the first president, successfully launched the then small organization on its career of bi-weekly meetings at the Blue Cottage on Laguna street, now no longer in existence.

Six months later the club moved its meeting place to 954 Ashbury street, where it remained for a year and a half. Then, because more spacious accommodations were necessary, the sorority moved its headquarters to 1927 Washington street, where it has since remained.

The first house mother was Miss Muriel Brown, now president of the Alumnae Association.

The sponsors are Mrs. Dorris, Miss Crumpton, Miss Vance, Miss McFadden, Miss Anderson, Miss Allcutt, and Miss Holmes.

Recently elected officers of the organization are: Alice Rich, president; Rose Marie McKenna, vice-president; Ellen Alexander, secretary; Evelyn Rafter, treasurer; Charline Crawford, historian.

The fifty members of Phi Lambda Chi succeed very well in carrying out the club's purpose, which is primarily service rendered through social activities.

S. T. C. GRADS WORK SAN QUENTIN SCHOOL

"The grounds were perfectly beautiful, and tended by the five convicts," declared Miss Alice Allcutt, in speaking of her visit to the San Quentin School recently with Miss Cecilla Anderson and Mrs. Evangeline Spozio.

On arrival, the visitors were surprised to find two former S. T. C. students, married and living within the prison grounds. Teaching in the two-room school includes the instruction of forty pupils, who are the children of the prison officials, in a regular elementary curricula, with many activities.

Children of the two-teacher school are planning a Christmas party for the Indian children on a nearby reservation, and their savings will buy beads, books, toys, handkerchiefs and candy for their less fortunate neighbors.

Miss McCall Chooses Singers For Group

Miss McCall recently held a tryout contest for madrigal singers. She has organized a group of nineteen students who will be trained in old English madrigal singing. This organization will be the only one of its kind in the country. Miss McCall has received the music she will use from London, where madrigal singing was popular during the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries.

This will be an extra curriculum activity which will start at the opening of the spring semester. The class will meet once a week. The successful tryouts who are enrolled in the class are: Herman Werner, Joan Geoghegan, Allen Wyatt, Hardie Robbins, Bernice Wuersching, Eileen Nichols, Lavadna Hill, Laura Denman, Lorraine Walsh, Carol Lenhart, Dorothy Dalton, John Coughlin, Norman Meyer, Evelyn Hayburn, Muriel Schereruble, Doris Weinstrom, Fern Moore, Ethel Rosen, and Donald Clark.

SCHOOL ART DISPLAY BROUGHT FROM CHINA

While on an eight-year sojourn in China, James and Herbert White took over four thousand photographs of great monuments and places of artistic and architectural interest, and some of these are on display at the Chinese Y. M. C. A. on Sacramento street. Those on display are a group of extraordinary views selected and colored by trained Chinese artists to re-create for Americans the majestic splendor and exquisite colors of the show places of China. The beauty and enchantment of China's gardens, palaces, and fairy cities are without a peer the world over.

Those who have seen this exhibit say that it was well worth the time spent and urge their friends to attend.

This art exhibit has already been presented at the Stanford University, Bohemian Club of San Francisco, the Oakland Forum, and other noted art galleries in the bay region. During the coming months the exhibit will be loaned to such leading institutions as the Library of Congress, Art Center of New York, and Columbia University.

Christmas Fantasy Given in Training School December 12

Dancing dolls, rag dolls, baby dolls, peasant dolls, soldier dolls, Japanese dolls, old dolls, new dols, all of these and more came to life at the Christmas program given at the Frederic Burk Training School, December 12, under the auspices of the Parent Teachers' Association.

The three-act Christmas fantasy, Dolls, was coached by Miss Casebolt. The scene was the living room of the home of the little girl on the day before Christmas. The tree and all was in readiness for Christmas morning. After all was quiet the dolls came to life and commented upon their fate in life. The little girl's rag doll tells all the new, fashionable dolls that they didn't count in the little girl's life. As the result, the new dolls start campaigning for freedom for dolls. Morning found all the new dolls still up and as the little girl was heard in the distance, they scrambled back to their places. The little girl admired her new toys, but immediately dressed the rag doll in the fashionable lady doll's clothes.

Besides the play, there were five other numbers: a song and dance by the Tin Soldiers; song and dance by the old-fashioned dolls; a doll ballet, and two offerings by the orchestra. The Training School orchestra furnished the music for the occasion.

Dr. Arnesen Tells Of His Christmas Desires

While trying to discover what faculty members expected from Santa, we regretted to find Dr. Arnesen in a most befuddled state of consciousness. But nevertheless he rallied around in a most cricket spirit, and then confided his innermost suppressed desire. For a long time, for many years in fact, Dr. Arnesen has most sincerely desired to correct themes, especially freshmen themes. And now the opportunity is at hand. Gather around, and listen. Dr. Arnesen wants a nice, large, thick bundle of freshmen themes to correct. You see, Dr. Arnesen derives so much inspiration from reading these themes; say what sort of inspiration he won't reveal. There is one other wish that it is hoped will be granted him for Christmas: a committee meeting lasting far into the night. Of course, due to having already corrected some freshmen themes, his cerebral reservoir may have been drained dry, and the wishes may be mixed.

JOURNALISM GROUP TO JOIN FRATERNITY

Making rapid strides of progress, the journalism class, aside from its other prodigous leaps and bounds of this semester, is negotiating with Alpha Phi Gamma National Journalistic Fraternity to establish a chapter here. The final arrangements, according to the present schedule, will bring about the formation of the chapter in the middle of the spring term.

Mrs. T. H. Ellsworth, early this fall, appointed Marilaton Stewart to investigate the possibility of the San Francisco State Teachers' journalism unit affiliating with this organization.

Those who have been chosen as charter members of prospective State Chapter are Mrs. T. H. Ellsworth, Betty Fiske, Ciwa Griffiths, Marilaton Stewart, Rosalyn Hyde, and Webster Allen.

Frederic Burk as C. T. A. Meet Site

For the first time, the California Teachers' Association has scheduled meetings at this college. Two section meetings are to be held this week at Frederic Burk school. Both are scheduled for December 17, at 1:30 p. m. A music section meeting will be held in the Frederic Burk auditorium, while an arithmetic section meeting will be held in another part of the school.

KAPPA DELTA TAU HAS BUSINESS GATHERING

Members of Kappa Delta Tau held a business and social meeting Tuesday, December 9, at the home of Irma Gerski, in Burlingame. Marjory Thomson, the new president, and the new board of control, which is composed of the following women, Dorothy Caswell, Evelyn Rafter, Peg Carroll, and Geraldine Wood, were installed.

On Tuesday, December 10, at 4 p. m. in the Frederic Burk Auditorium, the following pledges were initiated: Geraldine Wood, Genevieve Wood, Frances Kuhn, and Ruth Martin. The stage was lighted by large white candles held in antique Italian candlesticks. Other decorations were in yellow and turquoise blue. The new members were each presented with a corsage. Miss Effie B. McFadden was elected as an honorary member of Kappa Delta Tau.

Mrs. Sarah Scott, sponsor of the club, states that any girl who was in the spring festival of last term, is eligible to join this organization, if they present a petition to the board of control by the first Friday of next semester. It will not be necessary for these women to try out.

Try-outs for new members will be held on the second Wednesday of the spring term.

STUDENTS IN LIBRARY THINK SCHOOL AFIRE

Students in the library at 1:30, Thursday afternoon, thought that at last the southwest end of the campus was to have a new building.

It was like this—those in search of knowledge and good marks sat humped over their books, oblivious of the outer world, when the pungent odor of smoke slowly permeated the reference room of the library.

Those with sensitive olfactory nerves sniffed inquiringly. Sniffs were followed by coughs and a sneeze here and there.

A very large young man with spectacles (and a sensitive nose) rose and made his way to the librarian. A short discourse took place, after which he returned to his former seat, but not for long.

Soon the smoke in the "libe" was actually visible, and students began to leave, gathering up books and pencils hurriedly.

The large young man again went to the desk of the librarian with a long, determined stride. The result was the opening of the doors of the fire exit.

No. College Hall did not burn down, and there will not be a new building, as was fondly hoped. The smoke from the incinerator somehow came through the ventilators and thus caused the ensuing excitement.

OFFICERS CHOSEN AT GLEE CLUB MEETING

At the last meeting of the Glee Club, Monday, December 8, an election of officers for the coming term took place. Those who were elected by the group are: Thelma Silvia, president; Audrey Moore, vice-president; Ralph Cioffi, secretary, and Eva Starcevich, treasurer. All have been prominent in the Glee Club affairs of this term. They will take over the duties so efficiently tended to this semester by Lillian Tyrrell, Avis Kuhn, Mildred Scott, and Viola Giesen.

Following the election of officers, Christmas carols were practiced by the group, under the direction of Miss Eva Levy. These carols will be sung by all the members of the club Friday, December 19, in the halls of the administration building and in the training school.

Faculty Asks Santa For Varied Presents

If wishing means anything, Santa Claus is going to have a most peculiar load to deliver to the faculty members of the college. Dr. Robert's wishes are rather complex: A large maintenance fund, a building budget, and, here's the nicest compliment that we've heard yet, more students of the same type that are here now. Dr. Arnesen is not quite so complimentary in wishing for less humility for himself, and more humility for his students. Evidently believing in the daylight, saving plan, Gladys Benard asks for eight o'clocks to come at ten a. m. And Miss England and Dr. Rypins are of one mind in asking for longer Xmas vacations. Mr. Knuth wants a silencer for his baby, and Dr. Cave asked for a rattle. Mrs. Ray would like a rose plot and ferned grotto; Santa, see Shakespeare about this. Some people believe in substantial objects, like Miss Mayer's Diego Rivera; Mrs. McCauley's green vase from Gump's; or Miss Reid's daffodil bulbs.

Miss Fleming and Mrs. Lyons both beg for more heat in the library, but Miss Romander would prefer, now that the Mt. Tamalpais railway is no longer running, that it be transferred over here, and used from the library to the training school.

Naturally, the Marples would ask for a larger bookstore, and an extra door; perhaps that is where Mr. Fenton is going to keep his grand piano.

After listening to the noisy reporters of this term, we cannot account for Mrs. Ellsworth's desire to continue working with her English 15 class.

CLASS OFFICERS FOR COMING TERM ELECTED

Class officers for the coming term were elected Wednesday, December 10, and Thursday, December 11. The officers elected for the class which graduates in May, 1931, are: Myrtle Saxe, president; Lena Watt, vice-president; and Barbara Blaess, secretary-treasurer.

The officers of the December '31 class are: Ninetta Deluca, president; Vivian Bonetti, vice-president; Estelle Barbieri, secretary-treasurer; and Eunice Humphreys, yell leader.

The officers for May '32: (president is to be elected); Betty Stevenson, vice-president; Ellen Alexander, secretary-treasurer; and Louise Miclo, yell leader.

Those for December '32: Elena Foppiano, president; Mary Kennett, vice-president; Belva Goodman, secretary-treasurer; Dorothy Singer, yell leader.

The students of the May '33 class elected Margaret Cassidy, president; Marian Tardiff, vice-president; Marie Spezia, secretary-treasurer; and Frank Howard, yell leader.

Class officers of the December '33 class are: Marie Stanton, president; Frances Arensen, vice-president; Freda Davidson, secretary-treasurer; and Dorothy Dionysious, yell leader.

High freshman officers for the coming term will be: Don Horner, president; and Bill Connolly, yell leader. The vice-president and the secretary-treasurer will be elected later.

And now, folks, "What Is This Thing Called Love?". It's a Victrola record!

NEW FRESHMEN TO BE GREETED BY COMMITTEE

A committee has been appointed to greet our incoming freshmen so that they may enjoy their stay at our up and coming college. The incoming class is going to be held to straight and definite rules for the first month and all those who do not live up to standards will surely regret it. The committee that has been appointed to take care of the new arrivals are as follows: Frank Howard, chairman; Everett O'Rourke, Bill Connolly, Sid Trager, Micky McDonald, Don Prior, Kenneth St. John, Tom Bragg, and Ed Plutte. The last two named are the official executors, and the poor innocent freshie that strays away from the "straight and narrow path" and breaks one of the rules, will be asked to "assume the angles" and the executors will do their duty.

A few of the rules that have been formed at present are as follows: No Queening, No Smoking of Tailor-made Cigarettes, No Trespassing on Varsity Walk or Loafing on the Sophomore's Benches, Dinks are to Be Worn on All Occasions, etc. The password will be Ministers.

A brawl day is being arranged for later in the semester when competitive sports will grace the men of the college. The main idea is to try to build up tradition at the expense of the incoming freshmen which will continue throughout the history of the college.

Living Christmas Tree Feature of K. P. Party

Purchase of a living Christmas tree for the festivities is only part of the program planned by children in rooms No. 1 and No. 2 of the kindergarten primary building for their holiday program.

Gifts of gaily colored rock gardens in tiny crockery bowls are to be presented to the parents by the children in room one, where the Christmas tree will be seen in gala fashion, while a program in room two will be given on the home-made stage, with lustrous green curtains, adorned by colored figures. Here, also, is a large rock garden, and many other potted plants and fish.

The Laboratory is found in room one and consists of a small green paper house, which holds a sparkling aquarium and several plants. A gay paper lantern hangs over the doorway.

The Christmas tree is to be planted in back of the kindergarten primary building after the festivities.

No Scratching On Low Soph's Ballot

The class of May '31 claims the honors of being the first to turn in complete election returns. No revote was necessary; neither, according to the Low Sophs, was there any electioneering in the form of midnight parades (in all probability due to the absence of dormitories on S. T. C. campus).

The officers elected for the ensuing year were: President, Margaret Cassidy; vice-president, Marion Tardiff; secretary-treasurer, Marie Spazia, and yell leader, Frank Howard.

Berkeley Library Issues Xmas List

One Hundred Attractive Books for Boys and Girls is the title of the Christmas book list compiled by the children's librarian of the Berkeley Public Library.

None of the books are over one dollar and they include Little Black Sambo by Helen Bannerman; Little Wooden Doll by M. W. Bianco; Golden Goose by Leslie Broche; and Angus and the Ducks by Marjorie Flach, for children from four to eight years. Fairy Tales by H. C. Anderson; Adventures of Pinocheo by C. Collodi; East of the Sun and West of the Moon by George Dasent; Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens; Johnny Appleseed by Vachill Lindsay; Lady Green-Satin and Her Maid, Rosette by Martineau des Chesnez; Some Merry Adventures of Robin Hood by Howard Pyle; Black Beauty by Anna Sewell; Silver Pennies by Blanche Thompson; and Swiss Family Robinson by Wyss, for children from eight to twelve; and Tom Sawyer by S. L. Clemens; Adventures of Buffalo Bill by W. F. Cody; Smoky, the Cowhorse by Well James; Tales From Shakespeare by Charles and Mary Lamb; Call of the Wild by Jack London; Letters to His Children by Theodore Roosevelt; Count Luckner, Sea Devil by Thomas Lowell; Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm by K. D. Wiggin; and Dove in the Eagle's Nest by de Angeli, for children from twelve to fifteen years.

HIGH GRAMMERS ORDER SOCIAL SCIENCE TEXTS

Working with Mrs. Evangeline Spozio in supplying the seventh and eighth grades with social science text books, Miss Hermine Henze has ordered many new titles for the children's library.

Some of the books are Astec Treasure House by Zanvier; Leading Facts of American History by Montgomery; First Steps in the History of Our Country by Mowry; Man, the Miracle Maker by Van Loon; Life of Lincoln for Boys and Girls by Moore; Our World Today and Yesterday by Robinson; Lure of Labrador Wild by Wallace; and Real Story of the Whaler by Verrill.

Other books for next semester will be Around the World with the Children by Carpenter; Astronomy from a Dipper by Clarke; Founders of Our Country by Coe; Stories from Eskimo Land by Gist; Golden Bird by Gibson; Windmill and Wooden Shoes by Grant; and Weavers and Other Workers by Hall.

May '31 Senior Class Elects New Officers

When the members of the class of May '31 held their election Monday, December 8, the following officers were elected: president, Myrtle Saxe; vice-president, Lena Watt; and secretary-treasurer, Barbara Blaess.

The Low Seniors have many great plans to execute next term, when they become Seniors in the full sense of the word. In relation to her being elected president of the class, Miss Saxe said: "I feel quite honored, and I am going to do my best for my class. We have much to do next term, which means we will all have to work hard."

PRESS CLUB LOWERS DUES FOR SPRING TERM

Starting another tradition that is stated in the by-laws of the constitution of the Press Club, the last meeting of the term was devoted to the election of officers for the ensuing term and the discussion of the dues.

It was thought that the dues should be lowered from fifty cents to twenty-five cents, due to the enlarging of the club next term. This subject was voted upon and won the unanimous support of the members.

The officers that have been selected for the ensuing term are: Rosalyn Hyde, president; Marilaton Stewart, vice-president; Frances Youell, secretary; Jane Knight, treasurer; and Doris Weinstrom, social chairman.

Golf Club Officer Receives Silver Cup

The S. T. C. Golf Club held its semi-annual luncheon at the Hotel Whitcomb, Wednesday, December 4, at 12 o'clock. This meeting marked the close of the golf tournament.

After the luncheon the retiring president, Bernice Brenner, presented Stella Gutermute, holder of low medal score, with an individual silver trophy.

Ruth Sturgeon, holder of low putting score, received a corsage of gardenias.

The following women were present: Miss Florence Hale, sponsor of the club; Miss Cecelia Anderson, Bernice Brenner, Ruth Sturgeon, Stella Gutermute, Elsie Schulte, and Ruth Kronick.

Next semester in addition to holding a regular tournament, the women plan to challenge the S. T. C. men golfers to a two-ball foursome tournament.

Life Saving Tested

Life-saving tests are being given this week at the Y. W. C. A. pool to the women in P. E. 12 D. Life-saving class. Last semester was the first time that this course had been given in this college. Mr. Terwilliger and Mr. Carlson, directors of the Life-saving Institute of the American Red Cross, are giving the tests to the eight women who are enrolled in the course.

NEW HOOP STARS ARE EXPECTED NEXT TERM

Several basketball stars from high schools and junior colleges of the bay region are expected to strengthen S. T. C.'s hoop squad for next term's games, according to Dean Cox.

Practice for the first game of the coming term, the game with San Jose State on January 10, will start on the first Monday after Christmas—one week before college opens. The game will be played at 8 o'clock in the evening at the San Jose court.

San Jose State is one of the strongest teachers' colleges in the state in athletics, hence the call for practice a week before classes start.

Whether the '30s will play or not as a preliminary to the varsity game has not been decided as yet, but they will be prepared to give a good account of themselves if a game is arranged.

Negotiations are at present under way for a game with the basketball team of the teachers' college at Arcata.

Children Advertise Play

Children of the Frederic Burk training school advertised their Christmas play, December 12, in the Frederic Burk auditorium by going from room to room and giving their lines to the various classes.

Baby Doll, Rag Doll, and the Soldier were the three characters portrayed by Georgia Kidwell, Genelle Alberts, and Billy Williams.

Margaret Cooch—This is a snap course.

Essie McCaw—Why?

Margaret—If you look sideways the professor snaps your head off.

College Defeated By Galileo Lion Team

Showing a whirlwind attack that swept the shattered State Teachers basket ball team off their feet, the Galileo Lions defeated the Staters in two basketball games on Wednesday, December 12, at the College gymnasium. The 30's went down to defeat by the score of 23 to 10, and the Varsity lost by the score of 28 to 13. Due to injuries and other complications, Coach Cox was unable to send his strongest combination into the game, and as a result both teams were outclassed. The Galileo squad started fast and ran up a score that was never threatened throughout the entire contest. Line-ups are as follows:

State 30's—Gioffe, Fisher, Tranberg, Trager, Magner. Lions—Stasiowski, Pechoulres, Barrienios, Randall, Goldstone.

State Varsity—Horner, Bragg, Henery, Jones, Murphy. Lion Varsity—Doyle, Carneolia, Spirz, Mallatrat, Kurtella.

ELENA FOPPIANO IS NEW CLASS PRESIDENT

The election for officers held Monday noon was not sufficient time for the class members of December '32 to choose between the efficiency of their nominees. Hence a revote.

The officers finally elected to lead the class through the activities of the Junior year were as follows: Elena Foppiano, president; Mary Kennett, vice-president; Belva Goodman, secretary-treasurer, and Dorothy Singer, yell leader.

Education 15A to be Given in Spring Term

Since a petition signed by thirty women students has been granted, the course Physical Education 15A, will be offered during the spring semester. Heretofore only 15B has been offered in the spring.

The costume has also been changed. Hereafter the women will wear one-piece black bathing suits, also crew neck, slip-over sweaters in royal blue.

The class has been granted a quantity of China silk which will be used in various dances.

PAINTING OF DADO IS FINISHED TODAY

Work of painting the dado and hanging in room 210 will be finished today. This is possible because of the co-operation of the members of both the Art 10 and 110 group.

The dado was done by Mary Kennett of the Art 16 group, and the hanging by Mary Conway of the Art 110 class. Both were chosen by unanimous consent by members of both classes.

Room 210 is truly representative of an art room with these two problems completed under the direction of Miss Evelyn Mayer.

Education 340 Given

A preliminary survey of the enrollment in the junior high school shows that Education 340 will be offered in summer session, but it will not be given next fall. The course is a requirement for major and minor in General Science. Mr. Carlos Mundt will teach it.

BOOKANEERS CLUB HAS ELECTION OF OFFICERS

After a prosperous semester of activities, the Bookaneers elected officers for the spring term at a meeting Monday afternoon, December 8.

The Bookaneers can look back over the accomplishments of the past term under the guidance of Chester McGrath and his staff of officers. The club is predicting a new, and even richer, experience in the realm of the short story next year under the sponsorship of Dr. Arnesen.

The officers that have been chosen are: Eleanor Birch, president; Don Clark, vice-president; Fay Salomon, secretary, and Alma Downey, treasurer.

Athletes Compete

The men's physical education department has been conducting a contest to determine the best all-around athlete taking part in this semester's sports.

The following men placed in the order given: Edward Henry, Donald Jones, Paul Gemignani and Ralph Cioffi tying for third place, and Jess Fisher.

This contest will be continued next semester, so that all the men will have a chance to compete and earn points.

Team Name Contest To Finish In Spring

"Why cannot we have a name for our athletic teams?" "Let's call them the ..... No. that's not ferocious enough; I think the ..... is better." Such questions and answers have been floating around the school since the beginning of the term, but now is the time to submit your pet name and win honor, fame, and a one-pound box of Haas "Half and Half" candy which has been donated by Mr. Marples.

This contest has been held over from last week so that the whole student body can submit the name they think is the most suitable for the teams.

The blanks that were received last [illegible] will be held [illegible] and judged with the ones coming in today and tomorrow. Deposit [illegible] in the box in the book store. [illegible] will be judged by Dean Cox and the athletic managers. The winner will be announced Friday, on the bulletin boards in the Book Store, and in the hall. Cut out the blank in the corner of the paper and submit your team name, own name, and box number.

Box of Candy to Be Awarded to Student

Rah! Rah! Rah for the varsity! Who likes candy? Mr. Marples has offered a one-pound box of Haas Half and Half candy to the student who suggests the most suitable name for the varsity team.

Entry blanks may be dropped in the Book Store until four o'clock Wednesday. Dean Cox will act as judge and the announcement of the winner will appear in the next edition of The Bay Leaf.

Court Is Planned

Live Christmas trees will be a feature of the preparation for the season in the training school. Each teacher has donated a little, with the result that every room has a live, potted tree. These will be decorated by the children, and after Christmas they will be placed in a court set aside for nature study.

In this court there will be plants, flowers, and cages for animals that the children will bring to school. Snakes and worms of all sorts will be part of the menagerie. The court will be finished some time after Christmas.

Dr. Cave Has P. A.

No buttons off, but they're good and loose! The father could not be located, although no less than four reporters were on his trail. So we don't know whether it is a boy or a girl, but we do know that Dr. Cave has his P. A. degree—there's a little Cave in the family!!!

Teacher Wants Ship

Mr. Carlos Mundt is hoping that Santa Claus will be kind to him, and bring a real nice ship model that he may place in the cabinet in his office. It does seem a shame that since the walls of his office are filled with extremely artistic pictures of ships that his cabinet should not harmonize with the rest of his interior decorating. However, we will hope for the best, and good luck, Mr. Mundt.

Workers See Editor

Volunteer workers on the 1931 Annual should see Ciwa Griffiths, editor, or Mrs. T. H. Ellsworth, faculty sponsor, this week in room 206 in regard to the details. The work is simple, and will be divided so that the annual illustrations will be colored by the first of next spring.

ENTER TEAM NAME CONTEST TODAY

UNIQUE NAMES DESCRIBE TEAMS

Mrs. Bridge, Physical Education instructor of the college, has been the supervisor of twenty-four "fancy-named" volley ball teams. In her seven classes, Mrs. Bridge has been having contests, and the winning teams which have not been announced as yet, will have the distinction of being called volley champs.

Some of the names which describe the various teams are: Beauty Pins, Battling Woozles, Smithsonians, Pegjacks, Blue Green Gases, Bumskies, Question Marks, Devil's Team, Mosquitoes, Six Bad Pennies, Marms, Hoboes, and the Hi Hitters.

Club Elects Officers

The Scribe's Club, after a successful semester, during which they gave a theatre party and a noon dance, elected their new officers Tuesday, December 2. They are: President, Jane Knight; vice-president, Marie Sime, and secretary, Laura Denman.

Poems written by the members were submitted to a magazine edited by the San Jose State Teachers' College. The magazine will come out some time this week.

Biology Specimens in "Ex" Are Chocolate

Santa Claus came early to Miss Reid's Biology III class last Thursday afternoon. A final was in progress, a final that consisted of classification of animals, so that an innocent looking duck turned out to be a caudatum, vertebrata, aves, and lamellirotres. Poor little duck. And this was done not only to the duck but to giraffes, camels, elephants, lions, pigs, horses, Indians, bears, owls, and crayfish. We congratulate the students, the same students who squirmed at caterpillars, on their poise in handling these animals, and we thank Miss Reid for seeing to it that every girl could keep her chocolate animal.

Club Elects Officers

The college debating society, Delta Sigma, has elected its officers for next semester. Alice Heim has been re-elected president. Margaret Higginson is the new vice-president; Charlene Crawford, secretary; Corinne Boylan, treasurer, and Phyliss Haley, manager.

The outgoing officers are Ruth Lescinski, vice-president; Ethel Newton, secretary; Dorothy Doelker, treasurer, and Charlene Crawford, manager.

The organization is planning several debates for next semester, one of which is with Weeber College, Utah. Other challenges sent and received will also be considered.

Just Another Stenographer or
"OUR MISS JONES?"
The Difference is—
Heald Training

Ask for the HEALD SCHOLARSHIP PLAN
Call or write . . . learn of the many advantages of this plan that is opening new vistas of success to ambitious young men and women. Mr. Lesseman or Mr. Phillips will gladly explain to you the interesting details. You cannot help but profit by knowing about the Heald Scholarship plan. There is, of course, no obligation. But act . . . ask about the plan now.
DAY AND NIGHT CLASSES

Everywhere in the business world you see the Heald-trained holding positions of importance . . . secretaries, executives . . . leaders all!
Anyone can be a stenographer or clerk . . . just another one of the mass of plodding toilers . . . a name on the payroll . . . that's all.
But, to be Heald-trained . . . backed by the sound business knowledge that has sent thousands of young business men and women on to successful careers . . . that spells the difference.
